

Questions for Platform group

1. Since most platforms in the world make little or no money, and rely on venture capital for sustenance, how do you think changing your business model could allow you to move toward profitability and better conditions for workers?
2. How did your experience as the platform reflect scenarios in your country?
3. In what ways could the platform collaborate with regulators to ensure safety and fairness while maintaining operational flexibility?
4. In markets with little competition, can self-regulation ensure fairness to all stakeholders?
